GEN. MATTHEW C. BUTLER, South Carolina's new senator, is the son of ex Congressman William Butler and a nephew of Gen. Pierce M. Butler, who fell at Cherubusco. He is also a nephew of ex-Senator A. P. Butler. On his mother's side he is a nephew of Commodore O. H. Perry. He was elected to the legislature in 1860—the only civil office he had held up to his admission to a seat in the United States senate. He rose during the war from the captaincy of a cavalry company to the rank of major-general. His ability as a lawyer and his eloquence as a speaker are sure to win for him a high rank in the national councils.

JUDGE SIMS was elected lieutenant governor of Mississippi last month by a majority of 100,000. The people thought they would, however, abolish his office by a constitutional amendment. It is doubtful whether they have succeeded in doing it. An amendment must receive in Mississippi a majority of the votes cast for representatives. The amendment in question falls about a thousand votes short of the requisite vote, and Judge Sims gets a sinecure for four years.

THAT BORDER BUSINESS.

Captain Louis Johnson's Views—Condition of Affairs on the Rio Grande—Troops Ordered to the Frontier.

WASHINGTON, December 4.—Capt. Louis Johnson, of the 24th infantry, before the military committee of the house, stated that about 3,000 men, say one full regiment of cavalry and two regiments of infantry, filled to about 1,000 men each, would be needed to properly protect the Texan border between the mouth of the Rio Grande and Fort McIntosh, Laredo, the cavalry for patrolling purposes and the infantry to occupy the posts now existing and some others that ought to be established at Edinburgh, Ronis, etc. He stated also that he believed the Mexican population of Tamaulipas to be to enable his authority to be respected; also, that raids have gone on at about the same rate ever since he has been stationed in Texas, since 1875, with the exception of the time during which the cattle thieves were engaged by one or the other side in Mexico in the late revolution, and that even then the raids did not entirely cease, but were less frequent than before. He said that the condition of affairs when he left, in September, 1877, was about the same as it has been for years.

Vessel Sunk.

LONDON, December 4.—The American line steamer Pomeranian, from Philadelphia for Liverpool, collided off the western coast of Ireland with the British ship Oasis from Liverpool, December 3d, for Barrington Roads. The Oasis sank but her crew were saved.

TROOPS FOR THE BORDER.

Six companies of the fourth cavalry, already in Texas on the upper line, are ordered to the border, and one regiment of infantry from Minnesota and a battalion of artillery from Carlisle barracks.

MORE SOLDIERS.

Orders have been issued from the war department for the Dr Jesse Boring was made effective.

Bishop Pierce referred to the death of Bishop Marvin in touching remarks, after which Dr Haygood offered the following resolutions, which were adopted by a rising vote:

Resolved, That in the death of our beloved and honored Bishop Marvin, this conference and the church of which he was one of the chief pastors, and suffers a sore bereavement.

That we cherish the memory of his saintly life and apostolic labors.

That we tender his bereaved family our Christian sympathies, and offer to God, to whose good and perfect will we reverently bow—our earnest prayers that His grace may sustain them in this hour of trial.

A resolution was adopted requesting Dr Y J Allen, of China, to accept his appointment as a delegate to the general conference, and that it would give the conference great gratification if he can attend.

J Chambers was granted a superannuated relation.

S D Evans was readmitted.

The conference recognized in elders orders Sam'l Griffin and Thomas T Key, coming from the Social Protestant church.

Committee on memorials and petitions made a report. Report was laid on the table.

Resolutions of thanks were passed.

J P Duncan led the conference in prayer.

Appointments were made and conference adjourned, and the session closed.

THE SENATORIAL RACE.

A Word to the Voters of Fulton County.

Editors Constitution:

It appears to be so plainly apparent that sinister influences are to be used at the polls today against the re-election of E. P. Howell as senator from the 38th district, that, although rarely taking any part in elections, save as an interested voter, I cannot forbear giving way to the inclination that prompts me to urge every citizen of Atlanta who has the interest of the city at heart, and every voter who desires his district to be properly represented, to go to the polls to day and vote for Mr Howell. I need not refer you to his record in the senate. That is a part of our legislative history. It is past and gone. My anxiety is for the future. h, which contingencies profoundly affecting the interests of Atlanta will have to be met and provided either for or against. I need not allude to the character of these contingencies. They will suggest themselves to the minds of every thoughtful citizen. I know that these contingencies will arise, and I know that if Atlanta is not properly represented in both branches of the general assembly her interest will suffer and suffer largely. I believe that no man is more capable of representing these interests than Mr. Howell. It is upon this ground that I urge the people of Atlanta to go to the polls to-day and give him their votes.

AN OLD CITIZEN.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Messrs Blanchard and Hemphill Retire and Messrs. S. B. Hoyt and Judge Jackson are Elected to the Vacancies.

At a meeting of the council on Monday night it was announced that the term of two of the members of the school board, Messrs. Hemphill and Blanchard, had expired.

Mr. Hemphill having served for several years as member of the board could not serve longer. Judge Jackson was elected to fill his place. Mr. Hemphill is one of the most competent and important member of the board, and retires with the esteem and respect of his associates, and the favorable verdict of the people.

Judge S. B. Hoyt was nominated for the place filled by Mr. Blanchard, and was elected. Mr. Blanchard making no contest for the place, although we understand he was willing to serve again. Mr. Blanchard has made a most excellent officer. He has been unremitting in his energy, and ceaseless in his attention.

Judge Jackson and Mr. Hoyt are men of high standing and of due abilities. It is rumored that Judge Hoyt is opposed to the high schools as they are at present organized. We have no information upon this point, and cannot speak advisedly. Mr Hoyt will doubtless act as he thinks best for the city.

Dr. Roach and Mr. R. J. Lowry were elected their own successors.

Municipal Election in Rome.

Special dispatch to the Constitution.

ROME, GA., Dec. 4

At the municipal election held here to-day, the ticket headed by M A Nevin was elected, as follows: For mayor, M A Nevin; for aldermen first ward, J G Dailey, T J Williamson; second ward, James Noble, sr., C T Clements; third ward, Halstead Smith, J J Seay.

Benevolent Home Entertainment.

The preparations for the Benevolent Home entertainment are progressing, and it is now assured that it will be one of the choicest affairs ever given in our city. There will be no endeavors to rival the prima donnas of the lyric stage or the great lights of the dramatic world, but a chaste, acceptable and brilliant rendition of sweet old ballads, recitations, etc. The ladies should see to it that a magnificent audience greets the performance on the 11th inst.

Vote at the Right Place!

Let all voters remember that votes for members of legislature and on the capital question and the new constitution must not be polled in the various wards.

The only state polls are at the city hall and at Bell's lumber yard, back of Moore & Marsh's store.

VOTE AT THE RIGHT PLACE.

Let there be no mistake. Votes in the city election are to be cast in the several wards.

Louisiana State Lottery.

Dr. Amos Fox is selling large numbers of tickets in the Louisiana state lottery whose drawing takes place on the 15th. The lottery is managed by such men as Gen. Jubal Early and Gen. Beauregard and of its fairness there is no doubt. Fine investments are afforded. Capital prize is $30,000, with over 11,000 prizes amounting to $600,000. Call and

THE FEDERAL UKASE.

IN WHICH MR. HAYES GIVES EXPRESSION TO HIS INMOST THOUGHTS.

The Southern Policy Aired Once More—Resumption to be Devoutly Fought—The "Dollar of Our Daddies" Slapped in the Face, Etc.

The following are the portions of the president's message of particular interest to our readers:

THE PACIFICATION OF THE COUNTRY

continues to be, and until it is fully accomplished, must remain, the most important of all our national interests. The earnest purpose of good citizens generally to unite their efforts in these endeavors is evident. It found decided expression in the resolutions announced in 1876 by the national conventions of the leading political parties of the country. There was a widespread apprehension that the momentous results in our progress as a nation, marked by the recent amendments to the constitution, were in imminent jeopardy; that the good understanding which promoted their adoption in the interest or a loyal devotion to the general welfare might prove a barren truce, and that the sections of the country, once engaged in civil strife might be again almost as widely severed and alienated as they were when arrayed in arms against each other. The course which, in my judgment, seems wise in the presence of this emergency, was plainly indicated in my inaugural address. It pointed to the time when all our people desire to see, when a genuine love for our whole country and of all that concerns its true welfare shall support the destructive force of mutual animosity of race and of sectional hostility. Opinions have differed widely as to the means best calculated to secure this great end. This was to be expected. The measures adopted by the administration have been subjected to severe and varied criticisms. Any course whatever, it could not have been otherwise, would certainly have been considered upon, would certainly have encountered distrust and opposition. These measures were, in my judgment, such as were most in harmony with the constitution and with the genius of our people, and best adapted, under the circumstances, to attain the end in view. The beneficent results which are apparent prove that these endeavors are not to be regarded as a mere experiment, and should sustain and encourage us in our efforts. Already in the brief period which has elapsed, the progress effected is, in no less than the justice of the course pursued, clearly demonstrated, and I have an abiding faith that time will confirm the sagacious application in the minds of the great majority of my fellow citizens. The discontinuance of the use of the army for the purposes of upholding local governments in two states in which domestic violence prevailed, and the withdrawal of the troops from these governments were effected diligently and with solicitous care for the rights and good order of every citizen, and the protection of the property of the people, and every right of all classes of citizens. Their complete success has followed are indeed significant and encouraging. The apprehension of danger from hostility between these states to local self-government is dispelled, and a most salutary change in the minds of the people has been and is progress in every part of the section. The country, once the seat of unhappy civil strife—now reviving from its long prostration, distrust and aversion, contending only in the friendship and the patriotic attachment to the Union. No intelligent observer can doubt that the fatal collisions, which for several years have been of frequent occurrence, and have summoned the executive power of the state, have almost entirely ceased, and that a spirit of fraternity between the two great national interest has succeeded. There has been a general re-establishment of order and of civil authority throughout the country. Instances of remaining lawlessness have become of rare occurrence; political turbulence and violence are discountenanced; useful industries have been resumed, and the people of the southern states has been greatly strengthened, and the encouraging benefits of a revival of commerce and of the activities of the country embodied in civil war are freely enjoyed. And are some of the results already attained upon which the country is to be congratulated. They are of such importance that we may with confidence patiently await that will surely come with the natural progress of events. It may not be improper here to say that it should be our fixed and steadfast purpose by firmness, by all available and proper means under the constitution and the laws, the lately emancipated race in the enjoyment of their rights and privileges. Adequate provision by those to whom her before the colored people have assisted in the formation of freedmen, the wisdom and justice of humane and liberal legislation with respect to their education and general welfare, and their adherence to the laws, both national and state, as to the civil and political rights of the colored people, now admitted to full and equal citizenship, the impossible repression and ultimate disappearance by the national and local authorities within their respective jurisdictions, of every instance of interference and violence from whatever cause, and for the security alike of both races, and in many localities by the public opinion of the country and the race. In this way the restoration of harmony and good will between the component portion of a reunited country, and the full enjoyment of the rights of citizenship by every one throughout the land, will surely be attained. I speak most earnestly and advisedly in regard to my duty. I shall most earnestly strive for their attainment. The cordial co-operation of all classes, of all sections of the country and of both races is natural, or only for the purpose, and with their blessing secured, and God grant that we may safely hope to hand down our free institutions to government unimpaired to the generations that will succeed us.

THE DESIRED CONSUMMATION

THE CURRENCY.

Of the other subjects of great and general importance to the people of the country, I cannot refer to them in detail. In regarding as pre-eminent the policy and measures which are designed to secure the restoration as speedily as may be safely done, of a sound and healthful condition in which the resumption of specie payments, our financial and business affairs and foreign exchanges may be brought into harmony with the system of exchanges which is based upon precious metals and the recognized standard of the world. In the public judgment that this end should be sought and compassed as speedily and as securely as the resources of the people and the wisdom of their representatives can accomplish, there is much greater degree of unanimity than has been found to concur in the specific measures which will best secure the currency to this desired end, or the rightful time of the step by which it can be safely reached. Upon a most anxious and deliberate examination, which I have felt it my duty to give this subject, I am but more confirmed in the opinion which I expressed in accepting the nomination for the presidency, and which I based upon my inauguration, that the policy of resumption should be pursued by existing suitable means, and that no legislation would be wise that should disparage the importance or retard the attainment of this result. I see no disposition, and certainly no right to question the honesty or integrity of opposing opinions. which will influence the conduct of any portion of the people of the United States upon the considerable difficulties and even serious embarrassments which may shroud the progress of the country toward this primary condition to the general and permanent prosperity of the country. I shall, however, adhere to my most earnest convictions, that any wavering in the purpose or hesitation in the methods, so far as avoiding or reducing the incidental disturbance inseparable from the transition from an irredeemable to a redeemable paper currency, would only tend to increase and prolong the disturbance in values, and, unless relieved, must end in serious discontent, dishonor and disaster in the financial affairs of the government and of the people. The mischief which a sentiment such as I have expressed is confined to no class of the people, indeed, but seems to me more readily to threaten the industrious masses, whether their occupations are of skilled or common labor. To them it seems to me, it is of prime importance that their labor should be compensated in money which is in itself of

UNCHANGEABLE VALUE

by being irrevocably measured by the labor necessary to its production. This permanent quality of the money of the people is sought for and can only be gained by the resumption of specie payments. The rich, the speculative, the operating, the money dealing classes may not always feel the mischief, or may find casual profits in a variable currency; but the misfortunes of such a currency to those whose just salaries or wages are invariable and remediless. Closely connected with this general subject of the resumption of specie payments is one subordinate but still of grave importance, and that is the readjustment of our coinage system by the restoration of the silver dollar as an element of our specie currency, endowed by legislation with the quality of legal tender to a greater or less extent. As there is no doubt of the power of congress under the constitution to coin money and regulate the value thereof, and as this power covers the whole range of authority applicable to the metal, the valid value and the legal tender quality which should be accorded for the coinage—these considerations which should inform us of the proper and just measure of action in connection with the coinage, clearly to the provision of legislative discretion in the exercise of public duty. Without entering upon this province of legislation, it is my present an occasion for the discharge of one of the duty imposed by the constitution upon the president of recommending to the consideration of congress such measures as I shall deem necessary and expedient. I shall not, I do, that neither the interest of the government nor of the people of the United States can be promoted by dispensing with silver as one of the two precious metals which furnish the coinage of the world, and to the legislation which shall secure to the silver dollar of the constitution

THE VOLUME OF INTRINSIC MONEY

as full a measure of both metals as their relative commercial values will permit, would be neither unjust nor unwise. I would ask your favorable consideration of certain executive features in any such legislative scheme. I see it may be necessary to guard against the abuses of the coinage, represented by both silver and gold, and to secure to the government a right to the profit of the coinage, and to the public creditor the benefit of any increase in the value of the coin above the bullion value. I am not prepared to say that the legislative power of the government should be exercised to make the silver dollar a full legal tender in payment of all debts and dues, public and private, but I am clear that it should be a legal tender to the amount of at least five dollars in any one payment. I am also clear that the silver dollar should be receivable for customs, taxes and all public dues, and that all forms of silver coin and certificates of silver deposit now authorized should be continued or provided. I am clear that the silver dollar authorized by the first congress under the constitution, and which was a full legal tender for all debts and dues, public and private, until 1853, and which is now a full legal tender for all debts and dues, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract, should be restored to its former functions. I am clear that the compulsory coinage of silver dollars of the weight of 412½ grains, which was required by the law of February 28, 1878, should be restored. I am clear that the amount of silver coinage under existing law should be increased, and that the limitation of five dollars in silver coin for any one payment should be repealed. I am clear that the profit on the coinage of silver dollars, which is now given to the bullion owners, should be secured to the government which bears the risk and cost of coinage, and which alone is responsible for the existence of silver coin as a full legal tender dollar. I am clear that the silver dollar should be issued directly from the mint to the people, and through the sub-treasury and other offices of the government, and that the government should be exempted from the necessity of purchasing silver bullion for coinage. I am clear that the government should not be required to purchase silver bullion and issue notes thereon, except as silver bullion may be purchased with the surplus revenues of the government, after meeting the requirements of the sinking fund and the payment of the interest and principal of the public debt

A NEW SOUTHERN MAGAZINE.

It is a positive relief to turn from the din and dust and heat of the capital campaign, now happily over, to the books and magazines that he invitingly convenient upon our table—a relief, that can only be experienced by those who have participated actively in the discussion. Even in turning over the leaves of the magazines we catch ourselves perusing an essay on "Mars and his Moons" in the expectation of being called upon to defend Atlanta from some attack based upon the peculiar characteristics of the Martial seasons, and every illustration recalls the shudder of apprehension that swept over us when the office-boy, (a young villain who has lately taken to smoking cigarettes and reading the newspapers,) called our attention to the astonishing bird's-eye view of the railway system of Georgia presented by Colonel Jones's now famous cartoon.

The first magazine upon which we lay hands is a new venture—the South-Atlantic, published at Wilmington, North Carolina, and edited by Mrs. Cicero W. Harris. We immediately begin to sympathize with a woman who is bold enough to confront the hard fate that has overcome so many in their efforts to establish a southern magazine. The number before us is the second issue. Its typographical appearance is neat and there is a healthy glow in the color of the cover. The eye runs down the table of contents. Here is a sonnet by Paul Hayne. Paul is a great favorite of ours and we search for his sonnet in the book. Strangely enough, it is not there, and a closer examination shows that the error is with the binder, who, by an insane manipulation of his "signatures," has given us two doses of "A Terrible Retribution," which is to be continued, and deprives us of the pleasure of a moment's leisure with Hayne, who, in his happier moods, has no rival among American poets as a sonneteer. It seems cruel to criticise an error as purely mechanical as this, but in a northern magazine it would set the pens of all the critics in the country to going. Another mistake the editor has made is to admit to her magazine such wretched stuff as "Evelyn's Choice," by John Esten Cooke. At its best the style of Mr. Cooke is not a model of grace and vigor, but in the present instance, it is a little below the literary standard of a college freshman. We take it for granted that Mr. Cooke has palmed off upon Mrs. Harris a story written when he was a school-boy. At any rate she would do well to curb her amiability hereafter, and exercise sound editorial discretion in disposing of such combinations.

The South-Atlantic opens with a pleasant descriptive paper by William Brockden Browne on "The Wonders of an Inland Sea," in which the author gives an account of a visit to and a voyage across lake Okeechobee in Florida. Barring a little vagueness as to detail, the article is a highly entertaining one. Mrs. Margaret J. Preston contributes a magnificently-poised sonnet on "Mendelsohn's Reward," which is the literary gem of the magazine, and Professor S. Hassell writes learnedly of "The Spiritual Ministry of Nature." The most important paper in the number is that of Mr. Stephens on "The Constitutional Amendments," which is a calm, dispassionate and able review of the whole question. Mr. Stephens is a writer who is always worth reading, and his paper is a valuable contribution to the literature of the day. The number closes with a short story by Mrs. Harris, which is not up to the standard of the magazine, but because it seems to deserve it. The editor cannot be too often and too emphatically warned against that phantom, which has lured so many promising periodicals to destruction—southern literature. If the South-Atlantic succeeds—and we hope it will—it will succeed because it is meritorious enough to induce people to buy it, and not because it is a southern magazine. The subscription price is $3 a year.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

The New Orleans Times thinks "the saffron sickle"—to use its own phrase—is becoming eccentric. It gives the Gulf ports a wide berth, and contents itself with the devastation of a small district each season. One season it depopulated Lake Charles, the next Vicksburg felt its heavy hand, the following autumn it swept Shreveport and Memphis, the year after came Pascagoula's turn, next Pensacola was devastated, last year Savannah was stricken and now Fernandina has just been writhing in agony. In none of these instances did it spare the hitherto fever-proof negro. In each of them there was a sandy soil, but a neglect of sanitary precautions to such an extent that the surface filth generated a condition of the atmosphere favorable to, if it did not generate, the disease.

In this connection Surgeon Woodhull, of the United States army, who was stationed at Oglethorpe barracks during the Savannah epidemic, and who has been investigating the subject ever since, concludes "(1). That there is no evidence of importation of the yellow fever poison in this epidemic; (2) that, if it was imported, no system of quarantine could have guarded against it; and (3) that the spread and virulence of the epidemic was closely connected with air and soil pollution, whether this pollution be considered a sufficient explanation of the origin of the disease or not." After succinctly demolishing the theory that the germs were imported from Cuba in ballast used for a railroad embankment, he attributes it to open sewers and the thoroughly filthy condition of Savannah, the details of which are sickening. He attributes this slovenly recklessness to the public confidence in the city's sandy foundation, and on this point makes some vitally important observations which may lead to the discovery of the remedy for the disease. He says: "Permeable soils like this allow from 60 to 90 per cent of falling water to penetrate, and also allow effluvia from contained decomposing matter to pass them for long distances. The cleanliness of sandy places is, therefore, often greater in appearance than in fact; and I believe these characteristics may have an appreciable effect upon the public."

GEORGE WRIGHT, of the Augusta Chronicle, has kindled a spark in the patriotic bosoms of the citizens of that place calculated to light up the Sand Hills. He says that with the capital in Milledgeville, the two hundred members, with five or six friends each, will trade principally in Augusta. This is a direct stab at the Macon patriots who have organized themselves into a campaign committee to further the claims of Milledgeville, and in their behalf we protest. Really, one would hardly have suspected, at the ... campaign, that such ... of chaff would be ... bottom of ... put so it is. ... ever, what ... graph, in ... and humor, we can ... to the polls to-... and vote for ... day.

This statement has no foundation in fact. On the contrary, a careful computation made by Senator Wallace and published in THE CONSTITUTION, and the correctness of which has never been challenged, shows conclusively that the state will save about one thousand dollars in the matter of mileage if the capital is retained in Atlanta. The Telegraph's ninth argument deals with the expenses of litigation in the supreme court, and needs no answer, because if true it would not affect the preponderating arguments of economy in favor of Atlanta.

10. At Milledgeville there is no danger that sectional influences can ever predominate. The interests of all portions of the state will be equally considered and protected.

If all sections are equally represented by their best men, there is no danger that the influence of one will predominate to the injury of the other, and it may be stated here that this matter of sending the best men to the legislature is a reply to two-thirds of the arguments against Atlanta. We regret that space will not permit us to follow Colonel Jones through his 11th, 12th and 13th arguments. They have been replied to over and over again, until their reproduction seems the result of a grim species of humor on the part of the telegraph. Moreover—

—But we hear the brass band coming around the corner and time is precious. Ta-ta, colonel!

AT LAST.

The discussion of the capital question has resulted in the hottest campaign that Georgia has seen for years. Its intensity even affected the poets, and these sensitive souls, crawling forth from their intellectual lairs, shook their yellow locks loose to the breeze, and made the welkin ring with melodious arguments. The fervor of the campaign even made demands upon the muscles of the hitherto idle map-maker, and Colonel Jones, of the Macon Telegraph, allowed two billets of stovewood to be exhausted in the vain endeavor to properly represent Milledgeville as a railroad centre. It has indeed been a remarkably warm campaign, and we are glad that the issue is to be settled to-day. As far as the argument is concerned we have had the boys on the hip from the first, but, by the good king Harry! their nimbleness of fence hath pestered us no little.

WHILE Milledgeville is preparing to put the names of her newspaper champions upon a marble slab, in commemoration of the fight they have made in her behalf, we would suggest that she devote an entire tablet to the Old Capitol. That paper, although laboring under the disadvantage of being only a weekly, has really led the Milledgeville campaign. Its tactics, if not always judicious, have been vigorous and effective; and its editors, although comparative strangers in Milledgeville, deserve far more at the hands of her people than they are likely ever to receive, albeit the patronage extended to them be ever so liberal.

Our business men should suspend operations a little while to-day in order to give their clerks and employees an opportunity to cast a vote for Atlanta.

You may have your doubts about the homestead, but you can't about Atlanta.

—Among the contributors to the literary department of "Andrews' Bazar" is Martha J. Lamb, well-known among American literateurs as the author of the "History of New York ... department of the "Bazar" ... ands, and forms ... ow.

POSITIVELY THE LAST CALL.

We are bound to have the last word with the Macon Telegraph. Colonel Jones may get out revised editions of his war map and add to and multiply his Milledgeville figures but he cannot—nay, shall not—escape the chunks of logic which we propose to hurl at his conclusions until the brass band calls around to escort us to the polls.

In the Telegraph of yesterday, the colonel concludes the campaign with thirteen reasons why the people should vote for Milledgeville. In the absence of anything more exciting it may not be uninteresting to take Colonel Jones's arguments by the heels, and give them such careful inspection as time and space will admit of. The orchestra will please play something soft and sweet, as the exhibition proceeds. You will perceive, ladies and gentlemen, that we take Colonel Jones's remarks as nearly seriatim as their appositeness will allow:

1. It [Milledgeville] is the geographical centre of the state, and most convenient to the majority of the people.

The geographical centre of Georgia is Stanfordville, in Putnam county. The political and commercial centre of the state is Atlanta.

2. It was made the permanent capital three-fourths of a century since, and on the faith of this many citizens purchased lots from the state, and improved them. These vested rights should be protected.

Have the citizens lost anything on their lots? The idea of "vested rights" in connection with the location of the capital is an absurdity on the face of it.

3. A state house, executive mansion, penitentiary, lunatic asylum and hundreds of acres of land are already in position there, and owned by the commonwealth.

A state house that, to be made available for the purposes of legislation and the comfort and convenience of the government, would cost the people more than one hundred thousand dollars, even taking the estimates made by ex-Governor Herschel V. Johnson before the war.

4. The business of the country can be carried on with much greater celerity and fewer hindrances in a small, than a large city.

The experience of Georgia does not bear out the assertion. The length of the sessions, in both Milledgeville and Atlanta, have averaged about the same, with the difference in respect to expense altogether in favor of Atlanta. Comparing the sessions of 1859 and 1876, when the state, in both instances, was in the hands of honest men, the cost of legislation in Milledgeville was some thousands greater than in Atlanta. The Telegraph's fifth argument relates to climate and temperature, which we need not discuss here.

5. No lobbying can be organized there without detection and summary exposure.

The history of legislation in Milledgeville will show that at lobbyists have been quite as energetic in pushing through their schemes in the "halls of our fathers" as elsewhere, and the chances of "summary exposure" are smaller in a town than in a city, where newspaper reporters and correspondents are continually on the lookout for a sensation.

7. Local influence cannot effect legislation or control sessional or other elections, because there is no concentration of capital and population in a small town.

ROBERT TYLER.

We are informed by telegraph of the death of the subject of this sketch, on the night of the 2d instant, at his home in Montgomery, Alabama. He died of paralysis, in the 58th year of his age. Col. Tyler was the son of ex-President John Tyler, and was educated at William and Mary college, Virginia; was admitted to the bar of his native state, and removed to the city of Philadelphia where he was engaged in the practice of his profession, until the secession of Virginia, when he espoused the cause of his native state, came south, and was upon the foundation of the southern confederacy, appointed register of the treasury, which position he retained until the collapse of the cause. He then removed with his family to Montgomery, Alabama, and became in a short while the editor of the Montgomery Advertiser, and occupied this position for several years, during which time he was the chairman of the state democratic executive committee, which lifted Alabama from the mire of radicalism, and placed her on the solid ground of democracy, where she has since remained, and is now on the high road to political prosperity. Alabama owes her present condition more to his efforts than to those of any other man.

Col. Tyler was a gentleman of rare ability, and was a most perfect type of scholarly gentility. He married in early life Miss Priscilla Cooper, the daughter of the tragedian, Mr. Thomas A. Cooper, and the sister of our late fellow-townsman, Maj. Jas. F. Cooper. From this marriage sprang several children, one of whom is Mrs. Goodwyn, whom our readers will remember heard to have read and recited so beautifully at DeGive's opera house in this city year or two ago. We have thus endeavored in this brief and hearty sketch to give a short biography of a man who stood prominently forward as an incorruptible patriot and a most courteous gentleman.

THE TREASURY REPORT.

The income of the government during the last fiscal year was $270,000,000; its expenses, $238,500,000; leaving about thirty millions, or about three millions less than was due the sinking fund. The receipts were as follows:

From customs	$180,906,493 77
From internal revenue	113,500,607 81
From sales of public lands	979,284 68
From tax on circulation and deposits of national banks	7,078,530 96
From repayments of interest by Pacific Railway companies	1,661,996 64
From customs' fees, fines, penalties, &c	1,044,712 34
From fees—consular, letters patent, and lands	1,727,611 97
From proceeds of sales of government property	338,951 98
From premium on sales of coin	249,240 78
From profits on coinage, &c	3,471,239 08
From miscellaneous sources	3,067,782 82
Total ordinary receipts	269,000,596 63

The expenditures for the same period were:

For civil expenses	15,794,188 24
For foreign intercourse	1,293,719 79
For indians	5,677,057 74
For pensions	27,963,202 97
For the military establishment, including river and harbor improvements, and arsenals	37,082,765 90
For the naval establishment, including vessels, machinery and improvements at navy yards	14,909,965 86
For miscellaneous expenditures, including public buildings, light-houses, and collecting the revenue	35,238,119 47
For interest on the public debt	9,124,511 59
Total ordinary expenditures	258,554,009 86
Leaving a surplus revenue of	$10,446,586 77

The receipts of the current fiscal year are put by Secretary Sherman at $265,500,000, and the expenditures at $257,000,000, leaving a surplus revenue of $8,500,000. The secretary adds:

And even as to the bonds issued prior to February 12, 1873, public policy and enlightened intellect require us to pay them in coin dollars in circulation and contemplated by both parties as the medium of payment. Silver dollars have been coined in circulation in the United States since 1837, and since 1853 no national silver coins have been in circulation and a legal tender only for limited sums, and have not been contemplated as the medium of payment since any considerable portion of the outstanding bonds were issued. The silver dollar was, in fact, more valuable than the gold dollar. It does not become a nation like ours to avail itself of the coerced deposition of silver to gain a small saving by the payment of the silver dollar instead of the coin contemplated when the bonds were issued. A far greater saving and higher public honor can be secured by the sale of four per cent bonds to meet the refunding acts and the payment of outstanding bonds, coin for coin, the assurance given by congress of such payment would at once secure the complete success of the funding provisions and greatly reduce the present high credit of the United States.

On the subject of resumption he says:

The course adopted under the resumption act, if pursued, will probably be followed with the greatest success, and a national bank note and the maintenance of resumption will doubtless secure a parity in the treasury at or before the date fixed by law. The provision for free banking has added this process of validity, inasmuch as that would otherwise have been secured by the withdrawal of United States notes. The secretary only suggests that the final resumption of specie is a policy that will make good the promise contained in the United States notes when it was issued, which is to redeem them in coin dollars on the public credit. It approved March 18, 1869, and made definite and effective by the resumption act.

So anxious is the secretary to bring about resumption that he wants legislation that will enable him to purchase four per cent gold greenbacks in excess of $200,000,000. The policy is not wearing rapid enough to suit him.

The next thing naturally is a paragraph in the interest of the national bank system, which is the backbone, the mainspring of the republican party. He "ventures" to express the opinion, "that the best currency for the people of the United States would be a carefully limited amount of United States notes, promptly redeemable on presentation in coin, and supported by ample reserves of coin, and supplemented by a system of national banks, organized under general laws, free and open to all, with power to issue circulating notes secured by United States bonds deposited with the government, and redeemable on demand in United States notes or coin. Such a system will secure to the people a safe currency of equal value in all parts of the country, receivable for all dues, and easily convertible into coin. Interest can thus be saved on so much of the public debt as can be conveniently maintained in permanent circulation, leaving to national banks the profits of such loan of trust." Pages in defense of the national banks follow; but the secretary refuses to endorse the scheme to relieve them of federal taxation. The secretary believes there is no limit to the sphere of governmental action, and he, therefore, proposes that the government embark in the savings bank business.

His objections to a full remonetization of silver are stated at considerable length. We give only his conclusions:

The secretary believes that all the beneficial results hoped for from a liberal issue of silver coin can be secured by issuing this coin in pursuance of the general policy of the act of 1853, in exchange for United States notes, collected from bullion purchased in the open market by the United States, and maintaining it by redemption, or otherwise, at par with gold when it could be made a legal tender for such sums and on such contracts as would secure to it the fullest general circulation. It could be paid, redeemed in United States notes and gold coin, and only reissued when demanded for public convenience. If the essential quality of redeemability given to the United States notes, bank notes, tokens, fractional coins, and currency substitutes shown at par, how much easier it would be to maintain the silver dollar of intrinsic market value, nearly equal to gold, at par with gold coin, by giving to it the like quality of redeemability. To still further secure a fixed relative value of silver and gold, the United States might invite an international convention of commercial nations. Even such a convention while it might check the fall of silver, could not prevent the operation of that higher law which places the market value of silver above human control. Based upon the condition here, the secretary is of the opinion that the silver dollar will be a great public advantage, but that if issued without limit, even the demand of the owners of silver bullion, it will be a great public injury.

The coin values of the exports and imports of the United States for the fiscal year, as appears from returns made to and compiled by the bureau of statistics, are as follows:

Exports of domestic merchandise	$589,677,744
Exports of foreign merchandise	12,806,206
Total	602,475,230
Imports	451,322,156
Excess of exports over imports	151,152,974
For the fiscal year 1876 there was an excess of exports over imports amounting to	79,613,851
Showing an excess for the year 1877 ... over the preceding year of	71,539,123

A WOMAN'S WISH.

Would I were lying in a field of clover,
Of clover cool and soft, and soft and sweet,
With dusky clouds in deep skies hanging over,
And scented silence at my head and feet.

Just for one hour to slip the leash of worry
In eager haste, from Thought's impatient neck,
And watch it coursing—in its heedless hurry
Disdaining Wisdom's whistles—Duty's beck!

Ah! it were sweet, where clover clumps are meeting
And daisies hiding, so to hide and rest;
No sound except my own heart's steady beating
Rocking itself to sleep within my breast.

Just to lie there filled with the deeper breathing
That comes of listening to a free bird's song;
Our souls require at times this full unsheathing—
All swords will rust if scabbard-kept too long.

And I am tired! so tired of rigid duty!
So tired of all my tired hands find to do!
I yearn, I ache, for some of life's free beauty,
Its loose reeds with no straight string running through!

Aye, laugh if laugh you will at my crude speech—
It is a woman sometimes sits of such a breed,
Die for the small joys held beyond their reach,
And the ambitions they have all they need!

OUR BEAUTIFUL BABIES.

A PROFUSE DISPLAY OF THE GLORIES OF THE METROPOLIS AND THE FAT OF THE LAND.

Twins, Triplets, Quartets, Posthumous and Double-Jointed Children —Four Hundred in All.

New York World, 27th.

The baby show opened in Midget's hall, in Fifth avenue, at 9:30 yesterday morning. It was a gathering to be remarked in several of its features, but most remarkable was its suggestion of wisdom. At the hour of its opening the babies were fresh, wide-awake, unvexed and absorbed. No laggard and posterior twin, clipped of its vitality, had fallen into a leaden and precarious sleep, and the noisiest boy had not yet opened his mouth or got his preposterous legs into the throes of irresponsible action. The flush of the vigor of morning was on the faces of all, and the alert intellect peered out of every baby's eyes. Under the circumstances, with every infant deeply serious, silent and absorbed, there never was such a gross display of facial wisdom.

The babies were escorted and arranged in the large hall on the second floor, which was trimmed profusely with evergreens and flowers, and upon each desk from the first aisle to the rear edge of the room, holding them in position with small strips of plaster. In a few days minute ramifications extended from these grafts to each other and to the sound skin, which gradually increased until they bridged over the space between them and new skin was thus produced.

The operation was carefully repeated during the seven months the girl lay in hospital, grafts for the purpose being freely furnished by her sisters, Dolorosa and Johanna, from their arms. The doctor was so skillful in his manipulations that every piece of skin grafted took root, and the entire skull was again covered with a firm, healthy, but hairless scalp. There are spots bereft of feeling; they are those connecting directly with the skull, the periosteum having been destroyed just there. The case excites much interest among the surgical profession.

ALL FOR HOWELL.

Hon. David Irwin's Friends in the Field for Mr. Howell's Re-Election.

MARIETTA, GA., Dec. 4, 1877.

The Marietta Journal issued a little handbill last night called an extra. This extra is composed entirely of a letter over the signature of Hon. David Irwin, urging the people of the district to support Major W. J. Winn for senator, and a sort of editorial announcement that Judge Irwin "speaks for Cobb," and that the people ought to follow his advice. We regret that this letter was not written sooner, if it had to be written at all. Whether so intended or not, it smacks of trick and unfairness to write, point, and circulate such a document just one day before the election, and whilst the people who know him may have respect for Judge Irwin's opinions, under ordinary circumstances, we know whereof we affirm when we say that in this matter he does not "speak for Cobb." He does not express the wishes of the people of Cobb, when he urges the election of Major Winn over Hon. Evan P. Howell. We do not pretend to say that Judge Irwin desires to influence the actions and votes of his friends, but we do know that he cannot carry them for Winn against Howell in the present election. He has a law partner who is for Howell. He has two sons who are for Howell. He has a son-in-law who is for Howell. He has a grandson, old enough to vote, who is for Howell. Indeed, we speak advisedly in declaring that nine out of ten of his special friends, who would rejoice to do him any kindness or favor under proper circumstances, are for Howell in this senatorial race. If Cobb county were to demand the senator as a matter of right and justice, and her demand should be conceded, her people would select from amongst her worthy citizens same sound, unwavering democrat to bear her standard. They did not select Major Winn, nor do they prefer him in this race. Evan P. Howell was faithful to his state and country in her time of trouble. He was a faithful senator until the late convention nuzzled him, and it is but just that we should re-elect him and let him serve out his unexpired term. Very respectfully,

W. P. MCCLATCHY.

THE "LOST ART" RECOVERED.

Galen, the most celebrated physician, flourished the second century. His theory was that roots and herbs, properly compounded, are Nature's remedy. His mighty skill was a success attested by his cures, and his opinions had sway in the medical world for centuries, until the art of compounding vegetable remedies was gradually lost in the thickening gloom of the middle ages, and poisonous mineral mixtures took its place. But the clouds are breaking in our day, and the almost magical virtues of VEGETINE, joyfully attested by thousands, stamp it as a true Galenical compound, and as a blood purifier and health restorer probably has had no equal since the days of Galen himself.

Dear Sir—I have been troubled with Canker from childhood, causing my mouth to be sore at times that I was unable to eat. Have taken many preparations, but with no effect, until I tried VEGETINE. After taking a few doses I found it relieved the irritation at the stomach that always accompanied Canker Humor, and by the time I had taken the third bottle my mouth was entirely cured. Have not been troubled with it since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to dozens of my acquaintances, and every one speaks favorably of its good effects. Yours truly, F. B. THE "LOST ART" RECOVERED.

Galen, the most celebrated physician, flourished the second century. His theory was that roots and herbs, properly compounded, are Nature's remedy. His mighty skill was a success attested by his cures, and his opinions had sway in the medical world for centuries, until the art of compounding vegetable remedies was gradually lost in the thickening gloom of the middle ages, and poisonous mineral mixtures took its place. But the clouds are breaking in our day, and the almost magical virtues of VEGETINE, joyfully attested by thousands, stamp it as a true Galenical compound, and as a blood purifier and health restorer probably has had no equal since the days of Galen himself.

Every one Speaks Favorably

EAST MARSHFIELD, MASS., Aug. 31, 1870.

MR. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—I have been troubled with Canker from childhood, causing my mouth to be sore at times that I was unable to eat. Have taken many preparations, but with no effect, until I tried VEGETINE. After taking a few doses I found it relieved the irritation at the stomach that always accompanied Canker Humor, and by the time I had taken the third bottle my mouth was entirely cured. Have not been troubled with it since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to dozens of my acquaintances, and every one speaks favorably of its good effects. Yours truly, F. B. SPRAGUE.

ATLANTA, GA., Dec. 3, 1877.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION—We have been regularly nominated by the democratic party at a primary election held on the 6th day of November, inst. It has been the custom always heretofore for some men who were disappointed in elections to select candidates to fight the ticket nominated. It makes no difference how fairly it may have been made, there is always some one who will cry "fraud and ring" to try and break down the men nominated. This has been done in regard to our ticket. And for fear that our silence may be improperly construed, we state that there is not the slightest foundation for the charges. We state positively that neither of us have even so much as requested the voters or any one of them to vote or use their influence for any one for position in the city government.

And further, that we have not given a promise to a single person that we would support them for office if we were elected. And furthermore, we state each and every person who has asked our support for office are now opposing us, and actually supporting the so-called "no ring ticket."

THE CITY CANVASS.

BOTH OF THE TICKETS WILL REMAIN IN THE FIELD UNTIL THE END.

The Board Did Not Meet on Yesterday and Sweet-Winged Peace Folded Her Wings and Fled.

On yesterday the leading topic of conversation was the FIGHT BETWEEN THE TWO CITY TICKETS.

At 9 o'clock a pretty large crowd had gathered about James' bank to witness the meeting of the board of arbitration that had been advertised to take place at that hour.

It was not believed that the delegates of the Independents would attend the meeting, as they had signified their intention on the day before of having nothing further to do with what they called, sarcastically, "the returning board." It was thought, however, that the friends of the nominees would meet and pass resolutions declaring that the Independents had broken up the attempt to compromise, and were responsible for the heated race that was precipitated.

They did not appear, however, and by ten o'clock the crowd tired of waiting in the rain slowly dispersed. This reporter then wended his way to ex-Mayor Hammock's office, and found that gentleman engaged in the pacific and non-political work of selling a merchant a bill of coffee by sample.

WHAT EX-MAYOR HAMMOCK SAID.

"Isn't the board of arbitration going to meet this morning?" "Well, I thought it was, but I've sent up to James' bank three or four times, and none of them have come as yet, so I suppose the meeting has been abandoned. I am very sorry of it, but I hardly think it could have done anything useful had it been assembled.

"I went into that board for the sole purpose of effecting a compromise. I believed that in the present condition of the capital campaign we should have no distracting issues. I was fearful that if we had such a bitter fight as this promised to be that we should find hundreds of men spending all their time at the ward polls and forget or neglect to vote on the capital question. I felt that we needed every vote, and consequently I was in favor of removing all distraction.

"It became very apparent, however, after we had been in session a few moments on yesterday that there was no hope of a compromise, so I went home and left my family pretty well low the capitol vote—

THE CONSTITUTION has ordered its correspondents to report the vote upon the capital upon the consolidation, the senators and representatives. After sifting these reports, we shall be pretty nearly able to give a map of the work of the day before.

THE OUTLOOK TO-NIGHT.

There is nothing developed at this writing to disturb the confidence with which we have looked forward for the past few weeks—indeed all advices received on yesterday were in roughly encouraging, and it is certain that if Atlanta's friends only do their duty her cause is safe and victory will perch upon her banners.

The effect of this heavy rain that has evidently set in for two or three days cannot of course be estimated. The interest in the election is so deep and so thorough that the most of the people would swim a river to get to the polls. It appears from the best information we can get that the rain extends pretty well over the state, and it will affect the section claimed by Milledgeville quite as much as the section that Atlanta will control almost unanimously. It is probable that the rain will not affect the result of the election very materially.

A WORD TO MERCHANTS.

Make it a point to-day to allow the young men in your employ plenty of time to vote. Encourage them to go out and vote, and see that your neighbors have done the same thing. Every vote is needed to-day.

Manufacturers and contractors should see to it that their hands have time to vote to-day See them all to go to the city poll and vote upon the capital. We need every vote.

Young men see that your friends all vote to-day. Beg them to go out. Don't let them forget the city poll. We need every vote to-day.

THE COMING SHOW.

A Various Entertainment for the Benefit of the Benevolent Home.

On the 11th of this month certain ladies and gentlemen of the city will give an entertainment for the benefit of the Benevolent home of this city.

The musical programme will be a rich and varied one. There will be beautiful solos, rendered by Mrs. Snook, Miss Ackerman and Miss Kennedy. Mrs. Anna Sloan Werner will give some of her exquisite vocalizations. Messrs. Morgan and Koutchins will sing ballads in their matchless style. Mr. J. C. Courtney will render a comic song in the happy manner that has made him famous in social circles. The Philharmonic Quartette Club will give some of their popular selections, and the Instrumental Quartette, Messrs. Holland and Ernest upon guitars and Drs. Crenshaw upon flutes, will render some popular gems.

The remaining part of the programme will be quite as interesting. Mr. Sam Small will read Trowbridge's pathetic poem, "The Vagabonds." Mr. Claxton will read "The Heathen Chinee."

The entertainment is for the benefit of the Benevolent home, and the rich programme will be sure to draw a large crowd.

Society News.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Eugene Zimmerman, of Alabama, was married to Miss Sallie Turpin, of Georgia, at St. Philips church, Rev. S. C. Foote officiating. No cards.

The bride is a sister of our popular townsman, Mr. Miles Turpin, and was admired and loved by a wide circle of friends in this city, where she has resided for sometime past. The groom is a prosperous young Alabama farmer.

The bride and groom left at 11½ o'clock for Montgomery. They have in this city many friends who wish for them all the happiness that can come to them on earth.

FACT AND RUMOR.

—One of the heavy runners on the race course for legislative honors is our good-natured friend Robert Crawley. His good humor has gained for him a host of friends enough he will certainly be elected, and if he is elected he will be in such a jovial humor that the "hails of our fathers" will hardly hold him. Bob is a good fellow and deserves lucky votes.—Sunny South.

—The city will be all stir to-day.

—The biggest vote ever known in Atlanta will be polled to-day.

—The employment of a night watchman at the city hall is a necessity, and the city council will soon supply it.

—The negroes were very busy canvassing and jugging until a late hour last night.

—A large number of Methodist preachers are in the city on their way back from the North Georgia conference.

—The continuous rain yesterday caused a great diminution in the retail trade. Wholesale merchants did a lively business all day, the city being quite full of country merchants.

—Atlanta will be well represented at the Tennessee River Improvement convention, which meets in Chattanooga to-day.

—Not even mud, rain and wind combined delay the daily trips of the remorseless collector.

—The meeting of the Irving club next Friday night promises to be the social event of the season.

—Tom cats are at a premium.

—Little fellows are filling up tin banks for Christmas frolics.

—The library fair is the town talk.

—Trinity church will issue $13,000 worth of 8 per cent bonds to pay its debts.

—The titanic Atlanta rat defies all traps and completely bulldozes cats and terriers.

—Crawley is ahead. Write Crawley on your tickets to-day. 125 dec5 1t

—Oh, my! that Kezekiah Stubbins will be at Bedives' to morrow night. Buy a ticket at once. For sale at Phillips & Crew's and Burke & Hancock's.

LOCAL DRAMATIC DOTS.

—Harry Robinson brings six end men, five choristers and the finest quartette on the road.

—The Abbott opera troupe may visit us soon.

—Genevieve Rogers has won the heart of nearly every western critic.

—The Haywood Brothers perform at the opera house to-night. They give a variety performance that is pronounced very good.

—Mary Anderson gathers fresh laurels as she comes toward the south.

—January will be full of dramatic attractions for the Atlantans.

EXECUTIVE NOTES.

—William N. Williams was convicted of unlawfully shooting at another at the adjourned term of Gwinnett county court and was fined and sentenced to twelve months imprisonment by the judge presiding. He is 68 years old, and he feels that four physicians could not save him. He says he would be glad to live 30 days; then, after mature deliberation, he has concluded that that of the seven is unwilling to take the responsibility of saying he will be five or six days longer.

—Governor Colquitt has issued proclamation for the election to be held in the 1st district on the 19th inst., to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Hon. Julius C. Clifford.

—Governor Colquitt has appointed Hon. Thomas Hardeman, of Bibb, Hon. Wm. Gibson, of Macon, and Hon. Wm. Hope Hull, of Houston, commissioners to represent Georgia in the Tennessee River improvement convention, which meets in Chattanooga to-day.

—Governor Colquitt has appointed Hon. Wm. Gibson, of Macon, Hon. Wm. Hope Hull, of Houston, and Hon. Thomas Hardeman, of Bibb, commissioners to represent Georgia in the convention to be held in Chattanooga to-day, to consider the improvement of the Tennessee river. We published the call a few days since and also gave the names of some of the gentlemen appointed delegates from the state.

We are pleased to see that Mayor Angier has taken up the matter and has appointed the following

No. 6. Argument concluded.

No. 7. Wilson and Amanda Allen vs. F A Frost. Claim from Troup. B H Bigham for plaintiff in error. Turnell & Longley for defendant.

No. 8. Jesse McLendon vs Frost & Crenshaw. Illegality from Troup. B H Bigham for plaintiff in error. Speer & Speer for defendant.

Pending the argument of Mr. Speer, court adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow.

To the Citizens of Atlanta.

The committee on location of the capital, fearing that there being two tickets in the field for aldermen and councilmen, and that it would seriously affect the vote on the capital—in their opinion, to the extent of a thousand votes—requested the candidates on both sides to select five gentlemen, and these ten to select five others to settle the question as to who should continue in the race, so that all the strength of Atlanta might be concentrated on the one vital question of the location of the capital.

To this proposition all the candidates on both sides consented, and agreed on a meeting at four o'clock on the third instant for a settlement. The representatives of the committee were there determined to do everything in their power to settle the question and restore harmony, but the Independents balked and refused to act, and thus the movement for peace and harmony failed, and by this action proved to the committee on capital location and ourselves that the gentlemen comprising the Independent ticket preferred their own election to offices of alderman and councilmen to the interest of our city, while we were willing to do anything to advance the city's interest even if we were required to decline to be candidates. We appeal to you, citizens of Atlanta, if the nominees have not acted fairly in this matter? We want you to know who are to blame for the present excited state of affairs in our city election, and on whom to place it. Now, we call upon all good citizens of Atlanta to rally to the support of the nominees of the democratic party.

The Aldermanic Board.

The aldermanic board met at noon yesterday, in the office of the mayor. Very little was presented for the consideration of the board.

The names per roll, as adopted by the council, were approved.

The matter of refunding Dr. Thompson's tax paid on city bonds, was considered and action on it was postponed till the next meeting of the board. The committee to whom it was referred reported in the negative, and the committee to whom it was referred reported in the affirmative.

All the members present were present.

"BIG WITH FATE!"

IS THIS DAY WHICH HAS COME UPON US.

A Glance Over the Field—How The Constitution will Receive and Display the News—Some Last Words for Voters.

To-day will decide it! In twelve hours from the time you read this paper, the people will decide whether the state should go onward or backward! Whether the capital should remain in a great and progressive city that is a pride to all Georgians or be removed to an isolated village that is half given over to decay!

The potential fall of the ballot,

DROPPING LIKE SNOW FLAKES,

from the hands of freemen, will commence in a few hours from this writing, and by night will have completed the work that has engaged the wise heads of Georgia for many a long month. Beyond the decisions rendered by the floating bits of paper to-day, there is no appeal. That the decision will be a just and proper one, those cannot doubt who believe in the wisdom of the people.

THE CONSTITUTION'S BULLETINS.

The managers of THE CONSTITUTION have arranged to have special dispatches forwarded to them from every telegraph office in the state of Georgia by nine o'clock to-night. As there are over one hundred such offices in the state, our reports received to-night will give a pretty conclusive idea as to how the vote has gone throughout the state.

In addition to the above, Captain English, the chairman of the campaign committee, has ordered that the campaign head-quarters shall be closed this evening at six o'clock, and that all dispatches sent the committee shall be delivered to the counting room of THE CONSTITUTION, where he will remain until daylight.

With these two sets of dispatches to rely upon, THE CONSTITUTION feels justified in promising the public that the very fullest possible advices will be received at an early hour to night.

As it will be impossible to accommodate the crowd, inside of THE CONSTITUTION building arrangements have been made to place the returns upon illuminated bulletin boards, as soon as they come in. These returns this embarrassed can easily be read across the street. Consequently if any anxious citizen will fetch his umbrella and put on his overshoes, and stand for an hour or so on Broad street, he can go home and tell his family pretty well how the capitol vote—

THE CONSTITUTION has ordered its correspondents to report the vote upon the capital upon the consolidation, the senators and representatives. After sifting these reports, we shall be pretty nearly able to give a map of the work of the day before.

THE OUTLOOK TO-NIGHT.

There is nothing developed at this writing to disturb the confidence with which we have looked forward for the past few weeks—indeed all advices received on yesterday were in roughly encouraging, and it is certain that if Atlanta's friends only do their duty her cause is safe and victory will perch upon her banners.

GEORGIA CIRCUIT.

No. 6. Argument concluded.

No. 7. Wilson and Amanda Allen vs. F A Frost. Claim from Troup. B H Bigham for plaintiff in error. Turnell & Longley for defendant.

No. 8. Jesse McLendon vs Frost & Crenshaw. Illegality from Troup. B H Bigham for plaintiff in error. Speer & Speer for defendant.

Pending the argument of Mr. Speer, court adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow.

To the Citizens of Atlanta.

The committee on location of the capital, fearing that there being two tickets in the field for aldermen and councilmen, and that it would seriously affect the vote on the capitol—in their opinion, to the extent of a thousand votes—requested the candidates on both sides to select five gentlemen, and these ten to select five others to settle the question as to who should continue in the race, so that all the strength of Atlanta might be concentrated on the one vital question of the location of the capital.

To this proposition all the candidates on both sides consented, and agreed on a meeting at four o'clock on the third instant for a settlement. The representatives of the committee were there determined to do everything in their power to settle the question and restore harmony, but the Independents balked and refused to act, and thus the movement for peace and harmony failed, and by this action proved to the committee on capital location and ourselves that the gentlemen comprising the Independent ticket preferred their own election to offices of alderman and councilmen to the interest of our city, while we were willing to do anything to advance the city's interest even if we were required to decline to be candidates. We appeal to you, citizens of Atlanta, if the nominees have not acted fairly in this matter? We want you to know who are to blame for the present excited state of affairs in our city election, and on whom to place it. Now, we call upon all good citizens of Atlanta to rally to the support of the nominees of the democratic party.

The Aldermanic Board.

The aldermanic board met at noon yesterday, in the office of the mayor. Very little was presented for the consideration of the board.

The names per roll, as adopted by the council, were approved.

The matter of refunding Dr. Thompson's tax paid on city bonds, was considered and action on it was postponed till the next meeting of the board. The committee to whom it was referred reported in the negative, and the committee to whom it was referred reported in the affirmative.

All the members present were present.

LOCAL PADDING.

—Be sure and vote to-day.

—Vote on the capital question at city hall or Bell's lumber yard.

—In the wreck of the Huron there was only one Georgian—Thomas Price, of Augusta.

—Messrs. Cook & Stewart are building a fine house for Mr. J S Boyd, on the Schofield corner.

—In a fox-hunt in New York some time ago, there were, according to the Herald, "two gentlemen named King, from Georgia, one of whom had ridden with the Bounds in Kingland, and rode admirably."

—Remember that the ward polls are only for the city elections.

—Bishop Pierce has been invited to deliver his famous address on "Public Opinion" as a lecture for the benefit of the Young Men's library.

—Atlanta will need every vote to-day. Don't you fail, for any reason in the world, to go and vote. Let every vote be polled.

—A prominent young man in Atlanta has a novel ready finished that promises to make a sensation when it is published. Its publication is strongly guaranteed.

—Vote at city hall or Bell's lumber yard on state issues.

—Speaking of the hero of Dr. Dugas Trammell's new book, "Wilkes Booth," the New York Post says: "He is a good character for a novel. He used to amuse himself while lying in a sick bed by shooting from a Derringer pistol at his portrait which hung at the opposite side of the room."

—Atlanta is becoming considerably interested just now to know who will be the deputies of the United States marshal. There will be several hundred applicants.

—Vote at Bell's lumber yard or at city hall.

—At the library fair a handsome diamond ring will be voted to the most popular lady. Miss Vedder, of Washington city, has been named by her many friends for the distinguished honor and some Atlanta belle will doubtless be found to contest the palm with her.

—It is said that there are one hundred men engaged in drumming on the streets for local retail trade. They represent principally the city goods and clothing houses, and always work on commission.

—Be sure to vote at city hall or Bell's lumber yard.

—Dr. H. V. M. Miller, of this city, has been in Cartersville for several days attending the Hon. Warren Aiken, who has been dangerously ill. His life has been despaired of, but Dr. Miller says there is now some hopes of his recovery. We hope Mr. Aiken will be spared for some years to come.

—Prof. Wallace Rhodes, mailing clerk at the Atlanta postoffice says, that at various periods he has performed some very laborious tasks, but the most tedious one of his life is, to inoculate into a green man's mind the importance of labelling to whom properly.

—Bell's lumber yard and city hall will be the state voting places. Don't make a mistake.

POLICE PICKINGS.

—Mayor Angier presided at the recorder's court yesterday. He is evidently at home in the chair.

—Fines at the recorder's court yesterday amounted to only fifteen dollars, most of the cases being continued.

—We regret to learn of the sickness of Recorder Milledge.

—Yesterday's rain interfered with police business.

—The following state arrests were made yesterday: Floyd Harrison, larceny; Frank Munro, larceny after trust; Richard Bell, suspicion.

—Few city arrests have been made up to midnight.

THE ATLANTA POLICE FORCE.

Orders for Election Day.

ATLANTA, Dec. 4th, 1877.

To the Officers and Men of the Police Force City of Atlanta: For the purpose of preserving order, three policemen will be placed at Bell's lumber yard, three at the city hall and two at each of the other places of voting, all the supernumeraries being put on duty from 9 o'clock a. m. until 9 o'clock p. m., the regular force being used at the precincts and other important points. The most prudent and careful among the men selected for duty around the polls. I is also my desire and our duty to go forward and vote for the candidates for the various positions without any electioneering on our part. We must not forget that we are policemen, and not politicians.

L. P. THOMAS, Jr.,
Chief Police.

On the 11th July, 1789, Lafayette brought forward in the national assembly of France, the celebrated declaration of rights, which asserted universal equality, freedom of speech, the principles of representative government and the inalienable authority of the people. The same day he enunciated that sentence, which has since become the watchword of revolution, "Insurrection against tyrants is the holiest of duties." The ring power in our municipal government is the unholiest tyranny, and insurrection against it the holiest of duties. Let no man fear to do his duty this day. That duty is to vote for the independent ticket and thus eliminate from our politics the most pernicious system that has ever disgraced a free government.

The independent democrats didn't "petition" for the repeal of registration; they demanded it and whipped it. To do this the Independents had to fight the nominees till they "hollered." That "petition" dodge won't go. It was dead already. 129 dec6 1t

The Capital Question.

While the people are in a state of extreme excitement on the matter of making Atlanta the permanent capital of Georgia, it would be well for them not to lose sight of the fact that it only requires a capital of $10 to win a fortune in the Louisiana State Lottery of New Orleans.

The nominees never favored the repeal of the registration law until they were satisfied that a long suffering people would no longer submit to the dictation of political tricksters. When that truth is forced upon their enslaving intellects they endeavor to make a virtue of necessity, and with lusty voice cry, Stop thief! The trick is too stale. The people are in possession of the facts, and their verdict will be rendered at the polls this day. 129 dec6 1t

—All those suffering with Hemorrhoids, or Piles, can safely rely on being permanently cured if they will use Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment, which is sold by all Druggists for 50 cents a bottle.

Announcements.

I respectfully announce my name as a candidate for re-election to the Senate from the 35th District. E. P. HOWELL.

To the People of Fulton County:

Announcing myself a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly, I appeal to you simply as honest, peace loving citizens for your support, asking you to vindicate, by my election, a vital principle very dear to our social compact; a principle which, by word, act and deed, I shall most rigidly maintain as inviolable. That principle is this: STRICT PURITY OF THE BALLOT. The free unpurchased ballot alone gives assurance of incorruptible Legislation, guaranteeing and fostering the rights of all, alike, the poor man as well as the rich, the black man as well as the white, the small man as well as the great; upholding, recently, true Republican Government. ATLANTA, GA.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 5, 1877.

SOUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA.

—To-day is one of the days when you can vote even if you do get a little mud on you.

—Speaking of voting, we can go this far: We can advise you to vote for Atlanta for the capital, and Evan Howell for senator.

—The only thing that troubles us now is the fact that a few days ago, a debating society in Hawkinsville decided that Milledgeville is the proper place. It was as little as this society could do, under the circumstances, to wait until after the election.

—If rumor is correct, some very sinister influences are to be used in the election to-day. See that your ticket has the name of Evan Howell upon it.

—The Augusta argument in favor of Milledgeville seems to have naberdashery for its basis.

—Gainesville, according to the Southron, has received nearly two hundred more bales of cotton up to the present time than during the same period last season.

—Colonel Jones says he don't like to have our pop-gun turned on Milledgeville. This is the first intimation we have had that the colonel is growing too old to allow the young ones to have a little fun. In the old game of "Anthony Over," the boys range themselves each on his side and the school-house divides them, but when the bell rings they sit side by side and learn their lessons from the same books. So with the Georgia editors. In the discussion of the capital question, they have opposed each other, but not, let us hope, with any undue bitterness. There have been some sharp things said on both sides, but we trust and believe they were quicky regretted and as quickly forgiven.

—The store-house of Mr. M. C. Chapman, of Jones county, was destroyed by an incendiary fire a few days ago.

—Mr William H. Goodrich, a prominent citizen of Augusta, is dead.

—Was it Colonel Pleasant Stovall, or Colonel Randall, of the Chronicle and Constitutionalist, that suggested with a yawn that if the capital is carried back to Milledgeville the members of the legislature will each buy a paper of hair-pins in Augusta?

—The Gainesville Southron says that the conference held in that city had a Beecher case before it.

—Mr. S. K. Christopher, of Towns county, is not a candidate for the legislature.

—The chandelier of the Methodist church at Griffin, fell from the ceiling last Sunday evening and was broken to pieces.

—A fire was discovered in the Baptist church in Rome last Sunday. But le damage was done.

The bakery and confectionary of ...pin, of Americus, was burned ...

TO THE PUBLIC

New York, October 1st, 18

I have devoted twenty years of patient study to the Liver and its relations to the human body, in search of a remedy which would restore it, when diseased, to its normal condition. The result of that labor has been the production of

TUTT'S LIVER PILLS.

Their popularity has become so extended and the demand so great as to induce unscrupulous parties to counterfeit them, thereby robbing me of the reward, and the afflicted of their virtues.

TO CAUTION THE PUBLIC.

I have placed them from vile impositions, I have adopted a new label, which bears my trade-mark and a notice of its entry in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, also my signature, thus:

Dr. H. Tutt M. D.

☞ TO COUNTERFEIT THIS IS FORGERY. ☜

Before purchasing, examine the label closely exert a peculiar influence on the system. Their action is prompt, and their good effects are felt in a few hours. A quarter of a century of study of the Liver has demonstrated that it exerts a greater influence over the system than any other organ of the body, and when diseased the entire organism is deranged. It is specially for the healing of this vital organ that I have spent so many years of toil, and having found the remedy, which has proved the greatest boon ever furnished the afflicted, shall they be deprived of its benefits, and a vile imitation imposed upon them?

THE GENUINE TUTT'S PILLS

LET THE HONEST PEOPLE OF AMERICA SEE TO IT THAT THEY ARE NOT DEFRAUDED. Scrutinize the label closely, see that it be as all the marks above mentioned, and buy the medicine only from respectable dealers. It can be found everywhere.

Very respectfully,

W. H. TUTT.

NOW OR NEVER

Is your time of being suited on a scientific principle by Dr. FOX, with a pair of his Tinted Focus Crystal Lenses, and save trouble and cost incident to changing your glasses every year or two, for the next 5 or fifteen years.

The Improved and Patent Spectacle of Dr. Fox's make, allow the Eye to look through any point of their disc, with a quietness and ease unparalleled in the history of Spectacles rendering what was formerly trouble and pain, a comfort and pleasure. No Strain, No Fatigue, No Ache, No Muscular Exertion. No Nervous Excitement, but all is as natural, easy and quiet, as if one is in equal focus every where. When the improved Spectacles are accurately adjusted to each Eye, they partially arrest or retard ordinary decay of sight many years, suiting as well by artificial light of night, as by day-light, from 14 to 16 years.

Dr. ALEXANDER FOX, Practical and Scientific Optician, from the Imperial Institute of St. Petersburg, Russia, having twenty years experience, selects at the first attempt, with the first pair of Spectacles, by an examination of the Eye with the Ophthalmoscope, which can only be used by Medical Men.

Unparalleled benefit has been derived from his treatment. He invites all suffering from defects of sight to call, and assures every one that the greatest attention will be given to them.

Relief for the Afflicted.

DR. RICE,

37 Court Place, LOUISVILLE, KY.,

A regularly educated and legally qualified physician and the most successful, as his many cures will attest.

Cures all forms of PRIVATE, CHRONIC and SEXUAL DISEASES.

Spermatorrhœa and Impotency, as the result of self-abuse in youth, sexual excesses in maturer years, or other causes, and producing some of the following diseases: Nervousness, Seminal Emissions, Night Sweats, Dimness of Sight, Defective Memory, Physical Decay, Pimples on the Face, Aversion to Society, Loss of Manly Power, &c., rendering marriage improper or unhappy. Also, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, Kidneys, Bladder, &c., promptly cured. Also, all Diseases arising from the use of Mercury, as Mercurial Rheumatism, Mercurial Eruptions, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Nose, Skin, Bones, Joints, &c., positively cured and entirely eradicated from the system. Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, Stricture, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Weaknesses, Irregularities, Painful Menstruation, Prolapsus Uteri, Leucorrhœa, Ulceration of the Uterus, Sterility, Abortion, Change of Life, Tumors, Cancers, Fistula, Piles and other private diseases quickly cured.

If in doubt call and see a physician who has had extended experience in a certain class of diseases, and treated thousands successfully, acquires great skill. Physicians knowing this fact often recommend patients to my care. Others, who have doctored with the city for treatment, medicines on hand, generally call on me privately and satisfy by small or moderate charges.

Cures Guaranteed in all Cases undertaken.

Medicines sent everywhere by express, free from observation. Charges reasonable and correspondence strictly confidential.

Important to Parents and Guardians

MOUNT DE CHANTAL

Academ of the Visitation

NEAR WHEELING, WEST VIRGINIA.

PARENTS in quest of a first class school for their daughters, will do well to investigate the claims of the celebrated Academy. For thoroughness in every department of female education, Mount de Chantal ranks pre-eminently high. Great attention is given to perfect the pupils in writing and speaking French with purity. For those sufficiently advanced, it is the language of their recreation hours. The purity of accent and correctness of pronunciation acquired in this Institution have been a subject of surprise to the native Parisian. The renown for the superiority in music is so wide spread as to have made this Academy almost a national one. One feature, in particular, that should recommend Mt. de Chantal to the sensible parent, is the independence exercised to form the pupils to views and habits of economy, and to render them really practical and useful women of society in after years. Simplicity in dress is enforced by rule.

These facts, united to the exceedingly moderate rates of board and tuition ($200 per annum) will we trust, secure to this school as large and desirable a patronage in the future as it has enjoyed in the past.

For further particulars apply for a prospectus to the Directress of Mount de Chantal Academy of the Visitation, near Wheeling, West Virginia. Refer to John H. Flynn, W. S. Thomson and Geners W. S. Walker.
